

A black and white photograph showing a close-up of the inverter unit. The unit is a rectangular box with various labels and terminals on its top surface. It is mounted to a metal bracket, which is secured to the chassis with a bolt. A white arrow points from the word "INVERTER" in a white box to the unit. The surrounding area shows various mechanical components, including hoses and structural beams.